

From: Diann's Happy Tails Dog Training <diannshappytails@msn.com>
Subject: Thank You for Shopping Small
Date: October 23, 2013 8:15:37 AM PDT
To: kathy@littledtech.com
Reply-To: diannshappytails@msn.com

Diann's Happy Tails Dog Training Day Care, Boarding & More

<http://www.diannshappytails.com>

Day Care fun for all. A Tired dog is a happy and social dog.

Dante loves his cousin Chula

Thank You For Shopping Small!
Jerky treats made in China are killing dog's.

To all my newsletter readers

I'd like to pass on something I heard this morning. Nearly 600 dog's have died and over 1000 have been sickened by dog jerky treats made in China. These treats have been recalled, but it is obvious they are still being shipped and sold. I put allot of blame on the places that are selling them, or maybe they really didn't know. As consumers, you are being misled to such an extent I can't begin to tell you. Just because something is on the shelf does not mean it is fine to buy and give your pet. , they may cheaper, you get bigger amounts, but if your dog dies or almost dies, is it worth the risk? There is a giant loophole in the pet food industry. One that I can't explain in a short email.

There are so many loopholes in the pet food industry:

just one loopholes is a product saying, "Made in USA" doesn't mean it was made from all ingredients in the USA. It can mean that the products came from an unknown source, or maybe they knew the source. It may mean that the company that packaged the product, did so here in the USA. If you ever seen a product that has "NO OUTSOURCING" That is good, that is a product that did not get any ingredient from another source. But, the comp. doesn't have to add that.

They do not have to specify where the ingredients come from. That one loophole goes for pet food, all treats, canned food & other items. When you look at a pet item, one they will eat, reading the fine lines is critical, and even then things are left out. Each time I hear or read about something like this, I am grateful I know my sources and companies. Of course, even here in the USA, a food item can be recalled, that doesn't mean the store removes the item from the shelf though. A pet food with rice can get mold, a meat source can get e coli, and the best we can do is buy from trusted companies, keep up on recalls, and if it's to cheap, there probably is a reason. I will research some websites to find a source to get alerts on recalled pet items The newsletter I did on toxic mold in the water has helped many of you that take your dog's out to have fun. This had been a quite summer for that, thankfully. At this time I am under the impression it isn't just one brand, they are saying all jerky treats have one certain ingredient in them and are researching as to what it might be. How do we really know it stops at just the jerky treats?

Contact Diann @ 541-536-2458 or go to <http://www.diannshappytails.com>

Classes: Puppy; Recall: Basic: Good Citizen: Advanced: Rally O: Name your Pleasure: Behavior Skills: Take the Lead: & More

Private sessions: Day Care: Boarding: Play Times: High quality pet food & Treats: Leads: Collars: Supplements: Toys: Many other items; ask Diann

FOLLOW US ON:

Forward this email

Try it FREE today.

This email was sent to kathy@littledtech.com by diannshappytails@msn.com | Update Profile/Email Address | Instant removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | Privacy Policy.

Diann's Happy Tails Obedience Training | P.O. Box 2847 | La Pine | OR | 97739